April 12th, 1913.

Mr. Liang Luen Fang,
Chinese Consul,
18 Broadway,
New York.

My dear Sir:-

It has occurred to me that you, or some of your friends, might be interested in the subject chosen for discussion and exhibition at the next meeting of this Society, on the afternoon of April 19th, and I accordingly enclose a few cards for the meeting.

This Society has recently acquired one of the largest existing collections of ancient Chinese coins, before the round coins were used, and this collection is now on exhibition and will remain so until after this meeting.

You, or your friends, would be most welcome at this meeting, or any other time that you might find it convenient to visit our building, which is open every day from ten to five o'clock and from one to five o'clock on Sundays. I am usually here every day except Sunday.

Very respectfully,

Director.
